

SAMPLE CULTURAL CONSULTANT BIO

This Berlitz Cultural Coach is a Colombian- Cuban U.S. consultant who provides customized coaching, facilitation, and training in cross-cultural communication and diversity to individuals, groups, and families. Having relocated six times herself, three times internationally, she has practical experience in the design of Business and Cultural orientation sessions for professionals and their families in transition.

She has non-profit expertise as she worked in Washington, D.C., where she was the Senior Research Project manager for the Hispanic Association on Corporate Responsibility. She participated in the fast-track Executive Management Development Program for a corporation in La Jolla, California also.

This Berlitz Cultural Coach has lived and worked for extended periods in Denmark, Spain, and Colombia and traveled extensively to over 25 countries around the world. She is fluent in English and Spanish, and conversational Danish, and has a good grasp of French.

The Berlitz Cultural Coach holds an M.A. in International Studies with an emphasis in Foreign Policy from the Claremont Graduate University's Center for Politics and Economics in Claremont, California. She received her B.A. in International Communications, a B.A. in Spanish and a minor in Business Administration from Pacific Union College in Napa Valley, California.

